

ALLIES LOOSE SURPRISE BLOW IN FRANCE

Meandering
Along the Main Stem
By WASH FAYETTE

Charles A. Ware's 85 years have not dimmed his interest in life or his love of Washington-C. H. and his old friends here.

He came from his home in Nashville, Tenn., for funeral services for Mrs. Ella Taylor, in Leesburg last Friday and then spent the weekend with Mrs. Lulu Free of Good Hope, a relative, while he commuted here.

Saturday and Sunday were busy days for him as he went from one to another of his old friends. He had his plans for Sunday all laid out. First there was Sunday School at Grace Methodist church and then the regular worship service. There he hoped to see many he had known when he lived here and was active in the church. He said he particularly wanted to see if the piano he had left behind when he went to Nashville half a century ago was still there. I haven't seen him since and don't know whether it is or is not.

He stopped in the Record-Herald office for a few minutes, as he always has whenever he comes to town. He left several of the little cards on which a poem, "Hope On," is printed on one side and "A Prayer" on the other. He has handed out nearly 3,000 of these cards he said, adding that many of them had been sent on by parents to boys in the service. His name and address are printed on them and now he is getting letters of appreciation from all over the World—wherever American boys are fighting or are in training.

He appears in the best of health. He carries his years lightly. "A fortune teller told me I would live to be 110 years old," he laughed, "so no wonder you didn't think I was 85."

His years in Nashville have been marked with success from any point of view. He has served his adopted state as its secretary of state and since has kept busy as an accountant. He is now spending most of his time counseling for income tax payers.

As he walked out the door, he chuckled: "Well, I'll be seeing you in 25 years. If you're still here." That meant he would be 110 years old. I wish I was as confident that I'd last that long as he is.

So far as I have been able to observe, the black center lines to guide traffic on many of the state highways have all been obliterated by lines of white paint (even though some of them are somewhat wiggly in places).

After years of endeavor, exponents of white paint for the center lines instead of the black won the battle by convincing the "powers that be" that white paint formed a far better guide line on concrete paving than black.

I discovered this fact years ago while driving in fog after night-fall.

Sometimes the fog was so thick that only the center line could be seen and when the line was black, it was difficult to keep it in view. White lines were always plain and easily followed in fog, as well as all other times.

Some time soon I expect to see white paint used for traffic zoning in the cities, taking the place of the orange paint now in use.

MORE NAZI POW'S
ARE AT CAMP PERRY

CAMP PERRY, Sept. 8.—(AP)—"Several hundred" additional German prisoners of war, ranging in age from 16 to 40, reached Camp Perry yesterday, wearing combat uniforms in which they were seized during the Allied liberation of France.

The camp's Public Relations Office said the prisoners will be available through war manpower regulations for agricultural labor projects within a 50-mile radius of Camp Perry.

The group included no officers. The trip from an eastern port was made aboard a prisoner of war train.

SALES TAX ON INCREASE

COLUMBUS, O., Sept. 8.—(AP)—State Treasurer Don H. Ebricht announced today $1,111,396 was collected from the sale of prepaid tax receipts during the week ending August 26. For the corresponding period last year, $1,002,237.37 was received.

SUPERFORTS BLAST JAP MILLS
IN MANCHURIA WHILE OTHER
BOMBERS HIT DEFENSE ISLANDS

Indications, from Composite Reports, Are That Allies Are in Final Stages of Preparations for Inevitable Invasion Of Nip Homeland

By LEONARD MILLIMAN

(By the Associated Press)

A powerful flight of Superfortresses raided the Japanese arsenal in Manchuria today, completing a circle of destruction blazed around the home islands of Nippon by American bombers.

Simultaneously Berlin radio reported Palau and Yap, eastern guardians of the Philippines, were heavily bombed, for three successive days. Axis reports said four or five hundred carrier planes hit Palau Wednesday and Thursday, while 300 attacked Yap. The continued intensity of the attacks, if true, would indicate a possible preparation for invasion.

Other Axis radios broadcast predictions of forthcoming U. S. invasions of Halmahera, southern gateway to the Philippines, and of the Philippines themselves.

Steel Mill Bombed
Tokyo announced more than 100 Superforts struck at Anshan, site of Japan's second largest steel mill, in a midday raid on Manchuria. It claimed three shot down.

First confirmation from the 20th Bomber Command was that China-based B29s attacked "important industrial targets" in Manchuria.

Anshan and its Showa Steel Works, some 600 miles northwest of Japan, was the target of the first B29 raid on Nippon's war industries July 29.

Southwest of Japan China-based Liberators sank three enemy freighters off Takao, Formosa.

Previously the Pacific Command announced bombing raids in the Kuriles northeast of Japan, the second land-based strike at Marcus to the southeast, and on Iwo Island, 750 miles south of Tokyo.

Yank Bombers Hit Palau
Carrier planes in strong force and land-based Liberators from the southwest Pacific joined in co-ordinated raids on Palau, eastern gateway to the Philippines 600 miles from Davao. An ammunition fuel dump was destroyed, 17 small craft left in flames, parked aircraft destroyed and runways cratered by heavy bombs.

Air opposition was absent in this and other Pacific raids, except for "six non-aggressive interceptors" over the Celebes were 50 Liberators and their Lightning escort destroyed 16 planes.

A solitary night-flying Catalina "black cat" extended raids over the Philippines by hitting two naval auxiliaries at Zamboanga, ancient fortress town on southern Mindanao 230 miles east of Davao.

Gen. Douglas MacArthur reported that his bombers ranged at will over the Moluccas south of the Philippines while Japanese prisoners confirmed that the enemy's Sixth air division had been virtually annihilated in New Guinea.

The Tokyo radio said today American planes raided Canton yesterday, causing casualties and small damage.

The broadcast said also that about 50 Allied planes raided Manado in the Celebes, approximately 275 miles south of Mindanao in the Philippines, Sept. 5.

On the next day about 60 planes bombed Kao in New Guinea, Mindanao and other Philippine locality, causing "slight damage to military installations," the broadcast added.

Heavier air blows from the Aleutians were seen in the assignment of Adm. Ralph Wood, veteran of the southwest Pacific

The closing was forced by a shortage of parts, he added, when the walkout crippled operations of some departments.

The Ford spokesman said the proposed transfer of the riveters involved no change in classifications or rate of pay.

BACK-TO-WORK MOVEMENT
AT FEDERAL-SEIZED MINES

PITTSBURGH, Sept. 8.—(AP)—A back-to-work movement was reported today at 14 government-seized mines in West Virginia and Pennsylvania, and the number of men made idle in a strike for recognition of the newly organized Supervisors Union dropped from 9,000 to about 4,500.

Reds Pen Up Nazis
By Balkan Drives

(By the Associated Press)

The Red army slashed through the Balkans today in a three-pronged drive which promised to smash Hitler's fast weakening hold on that vital area and trap thousands of his troops by cutting all communications with the homeland.

A German report said Russian troops fanning out across Bulgaria in a drive toward the Aegean Sea had reached the area of Demotika inside Greece on the Turkish frontier.

The objective of the Balkan drive is to create a steel wall from

NAZIS ESCAPE CUT OFF
ROME, Sept. 8.—(AP)—All main German escape and supply lines from Vienna and Budapest to Bulgaria and Greece are impassable, the U. S. 15th Air Force announced today while American bombers and fighters struck anew at railroads and airdromes in seething Yugoslavia.

the Black Sea to the Dalmatian coast and pocket all the Germans in Greece, Bulgaria and Albania.

In Poland Red Army forces edged forward northeast of Warsaw toward the southern border of East Prussia, fighting against unusually stiff German resistance that included large forces of tanks and self-propelled guns.

Warsaw Lines Weaken
The Polish press bureau asserted today that German troops had evacuated Praga defense lines east of Warsaw.

A Tass dispatch from Constanta said that in the Bulgarian Black Sea ports of Burgas and Varna the Germans were permitted to sink 74 Nazi vessels, including seven submarines, 32 minesweepers, 25 landing barges and four transports.

Tass said the sinkings took place between Aug. 26 and Aug. 28 and that from reports it had received the Bulgarian government not only failed to interfere or intern the crews, but sent them to Germany.

INDICATING THAT German soil is about to become the main Allied battleground, comes the announcement that armored patrols of Gen Patton's forces have penetrated the Reich's frontiers in an area (1) near Strasbourg. Equally important (2) is the Allied advance into Holland across the Rhine estuary. Not only does this leave Rotterdam and Amsterdam open to early liberation, but a swing around the north of Hitler's West Wall would put the Allies within reach of the Ruhr. (International)

No German Peace Offers
Made Yet, President Says

WASHINGTON, Sept. 8.—(AP)—

There have been no peace overtures to the Allies from inside Germany, President Roosevelt told his news conference today in response to a question.

The president said the Dumbarton Oaks international security conversations were nearly through and that excellent progress has been made.

President Roosevelt declared that defeat of Nazi armies must be followed by eradication of cartels as "weapons of economic warfare."

He released a letter to Secretary of State Hull which said this can be done only through collaborative action by the United Nations and that he hoped Hull would keep an eye on the entire subject.

To reporters, Mr. Roosevelt remarked that the state department is ready to go ahead and that the justice department has been digging up a lot of facts.

But, answering a question, he said he had not heard anything definite on whether the German general staff plans to use cartels to prepare for a third war, as was charged in a recent book by Sumner Welles, former undersecretary of state.

The justice department has been presenting testimony to a senate military subcommittee about the cartel situation.

Italy To Get Help
Asserting that much of Italy has been devastated by war, President Roosevelt said today that her 45,000,000 people—living in an area less than the size of California and with poor natural resources—will need additional assistance from the Allies if she is to stand on her own feet.

He told his news conference that Brig. Gen. William O'Dwyer, American economic officer in Italy, has returned to the United States and will talk with him at the White House today about plans for this new aid.

The president said the Germans in fleeing northward on the Italian boot had destroyed many utilities, and that north of Rome alone they had wiped out 90 per cent of the electric power plants.

Roads and bridges, also have been torn up, the whole work of devastation creating a shortage

4-PLY ASSAULT
ACCOMPANIED BY RAIN OF BOMBS

New Blackout Clamped on Developments — Fierce Fighting in Italy

By DWIGHT PITKIN

(By the Associated Press)

Gen. Dwight D. Eisenhower swung a hidden punch at the Siegfried line today as four Allied armies broke the Albert Canal defense and thrust menacingly at possible invasion spots along a 200-mile assault front.

The attack carried to within 25 miles of the German frontier at three places—north of the canal, close to Liege in Belgium and at Metz in France—and the Seventh Army of Lt. Gen. Alexander M. Patch moving up from the Mediterranean completed the line of threat by reaching Besancon, 50 miles from the Belfort gap just above Switzerland.

While 2,000 American and British heavy bombers attacked rear centers of the Siegfried line and the besieged port of LeHavre, British troops of the Second Army poured across the Albert Canal, where objectives had been seized within 10 miles of the Dutch border and 25 miles of the German frontier.

Surprise Coming
Tonight Gen. Eisenhower's headquarters clamped a tight news blackout on developments, such as has screened sweeping developments in the past.

Armadas of nearly 2,000 Allied heavy bombers gave strategic support today to Gen. Dwight D. Eisenhower's forces assaulting outposts of the German West Wall on a 200-mile front in eastern France and Belgium as the Germans asserted their retreat eastward "may now be considered ended."

More than 1,000 U. S. four-engine bombers escorted by 500 fighters smashed at installations in the upper Rhineland opposite the American Third Army massing in the Moselle River basin for a drive into German fortifications. Almost an equal force of British Lancasters dropped perhaps 2,500 tons of bombs on the German garrison holding out in the big port of Le Havre in an attempt to keep the Allies from funneling in supplies for the battle of Germany.

Berlin broadcast a statement by DNB, the official German news agency, that "large scale detaching movement" following the American breakthrough in Normandy could be considered ended.

Yanks Storm Metz
Lt. Gen. Miles D. Dempsey's British Second Army smashed across the Albert Canal and American armies stormed to the outskirts of the fortresses of Liege and Metz. The British Second Army blazed a trail for the next phase of the Allied campaign as broken and bypassed German remnants fell back into channel ports and tried to escape into Holland.

Gen. Eisenhower's grand scale offensive bulging within 25 miles of the Siegfried line at three points, was placed under a news blackout to mask the mounting of the final massive assault on the approaches to Berlin.

German Lines Broken
The British Second Army broke German defenses at the Albert Canal, a secondary defense before the West Wall, and Lt. Gen. Courtney Hodges' U. S. First Army stabbed to the immediate vicinity of Liege within 25 miles of the Reich gateway city of Aachen. The British and Hodges' forces apparently were hitting toward strongholds near the mouth of the Rhine along a direct path from the west to Berlin, more than 360 miles away.

The Third Army of Lt. Gen. George S. Patton battled into Metz, only 20 miles from the West Wall, along the Moselle River. In this sector the Germans were offering the stiffest resistance since the breakthrough in Normandy. Patton's Doughboys were moving steadily along the Moselle below Metz, but a battle-front dispatch said progress was slow and costly under heavy fire. Patrols which fought into the city of Nancy on Patton's right flank were forced to withdraw. In the

DRAFT TO EASE FROM NOW ON

Only Men in 1-A and Boys of 18 To Be Taken

By MAX HALL

WASHINGTON, Sept. 8.—(AP)—Selective service said today that men already in class 1-A and new 18-year-olds can more than supply the needs of the armed forces for the rest of 1944.

Draft Director Lewis B. Hershey estimated that 690,000 physically able men would be available for induction from those sources alone, compared with estimated needs of 600,000.

His estimates were in a letter to all draft board members giving the supply-and-demand picture up to next Jan. 1.

The expected "surplus" of 90,000 available men might be "left over" for 1945, a draft official said.

Class 1-A is furnishing the bulk of the "available." From that group, said Hershey, after allowing for rejections and deferments, men are expected to be available for induction in this proportion:

18-25 age group, 345,000.
26-29 age group, 80,000.
30-37 age group, 55,000.

That totals 480,000, and to this is added 210,000 youths expected to be inducted from those becoming 18 year olds (35,000 a month for the six months beginning July 1.) The total is thus 690,000.

Although Hershey said nothing about men being reclassified from 2-A and 2-B, other draft officials were emphatic in saying such men will be reclassified in 1-A whenever their reason for occupational deferments ceases to exist.

BLUE TOKENS WON'T BE USED NEXT MONTH

Some Canned Foods To Stay On Rationing, However

WASHINGTON, Sept. 8.—(AP)—The Office of Price Administration is scrapping its seven months old system of blue tokens for buying processed foods.

The blue tokens will go out of use October 1, no longer needed because most canned foods are going off the ration list.

Between September 17—when all but fruit and a few other canned foods go off rationing—and October 1, shoppers will not be given blue tokens as change and they will be able to spend the processed food discs only in units of ten. From that time on processed foods will be in multiples of ten. There will be no change in use of red tokens for buying meats and dairy products.

GENERAL ELECTRIC HEAD
REINSTATED AT HIS JOB

NEW YORK, Sept. 8.—(AP)—Charles E. Wilson was placed back in his old job as president of General Electric Co. today by the board of directors. He quit as executive vice chairman of the War Production Board several weeks ago in a row with Board Chairman Donald M. Nelson over reconversion policies and internal administrative affairs.

Cemetery Addition Is Sought At Good Hope

As result of a resolution adopted at a recent meeting of the Wayne Township Trustees, voters in that township will find a one mill levy proposal on the ballots at the November election, to provide funds for acquiring more ground and improving it for the Good Hope cemetery, the main burial ground in Wayne township.

The one mill levy means approximately 10 cents tax on each $100 worth of property, and 65 percent of the total vote cast is necessary for the adoption of the measure.

The trustees are R. B. McCoy, H. C. Smalley and Frank Grubbs.

REDS PEN UP GERMANS BY DRIVE IN THE BALKANS; WARSAW LIBERATION NEAR

The Serbian border, Cairo reports said today, and the free Yugoslav radio declared a mass uprising "on an unprecedented scale" had started enemy occupation forces.

The Yugoslav radio said the Serbs were in general revolt and attacking garrisons. The Nazis and collaborators were declared in panicky flight toward Hungary. Marshal Tito's forces were said to have tripled in size during the last few days as his Partisans and the Russians on the east pressed tighter the jaws of a trap fashioned for the enemy in the southern Balkans.

The Bulgarian government sought peace with the Allies.

The Bulgar-German clashes were apparently on a small scale and not a part of any concerted Bulgarian campaign against the Germans. There was no indication of a large-scale German withdrawal from Greece.

Railroads Torn Up Allied headquarters in Rome announced that rail routes along which the Germans are attempting to evacuate troops from Greece into Serbia and thence into Hungary have been destroyed and Yugoslavia's railways are so devastated that organized resistance to the Russian thrust toward the Adriatic will be impossible.

Advanced Russian units slashing through the Balkans moved west toward a junction with Marshal Tito's Yugoslav Partisans. Moscow reported that the drive was intended to pocket all Germans in Greece, Bulgaria and Albania.

Attempting to set its house in order and satisfy the Allies, the Bulgarian government announced the dissolution of the national assembly, banned all organizations have Nazi or Fascist tendencies and ordered the release of all Allied war prisoners.

Bulgaria Going Anti-Nazi

It appeared that the new Sofia government was trying to disassociate itself entirely from the regime responsible for allying Bulgaria with the Axis.

Despite these maneuvers, there was no hint from Moscow that the Soviet government had acceded to Bulgaria's request for an armistice, although the advance of Russian troops into the country apparently was proceeding almost without bloodshed.

Bulgaria thus remained technically at war with both the Allies and Germany, having broken with the Nazis yesterday.

Dispatches from Moscow, meanwhile, quoted the head of the Romanian armistice delegation there as predicting that formal agreement on armistice terms would be reached by tonight.

Finland Wants Out

A 16-man Finnish armistice delegation headed by Premier Hantti Hackzell arrived here last night and was expected to embark today on formal negotiations with Soviet government representatives.

Bulgarian armistice talks will not be held here, it was learned, and there was general speculation they might take place in Cairo, where a Bulgarian delegation previously had been negotiating with U. S. and British representatives.

The head of a Romanian delegation in Moscow predicted that an armistice agreement would be signed here before midnight taking his country formally out of the war.

Allied Air Help

Rail routes along which the Germans are attempting to evacuate troops from Greece into Serbia and thence into Hungary have been destroyed and Yugoslavia's whole rail system is so devastated that organized resistance to the Russian thrust to the Adriatic from Romania will be impossible, Allied Mediterranean air headquarters declared today.

"At the same time a barrier has, in effect, been laid across the Balkans from the coast to Romania to prevent the possibility of any planned retreat back into Germany," said an official announcement.

Rail traffic at present is impossible from Greece to Belgrade, from Belgrade to Ljubljana, from Sarajevo to Uziue, from Bihae to Sunja, from Karlov to Zagreb and from Fiume to Zagreb, the announcement said.

Closing of these lines was attributed jointly to Allied air onslaughts and demolitions by Marshal Tito's Yugoslav Partisans. The enemy has done virtually nothing to patch up the most recent devastation of his communications, headquarters said. Despite bad weather, Mustangs and rocket-firing Beaufighters ranged as far east as Salonika and the Danube yesterday, blasting convoys of enemy vehicles and trains moving from Greece to Serbia.

FIREMEN SUMMONED BY BURNING TRUCK

Firemen were called to a point 2 1-2 miles west of the Chaffin School House, on the Plymouth Road, shortly after 4 P. M. Thursday, to extinguish a fire which was burning in the cab and gas tank of an Armbrust stone truck.

While the cab and some other parts of the truck were badly charred, the tires were saved and most of the truck body escaped damage.

SURPRISE BLOW LOOSED BY ALLIES IN FRANCE; BOMBERS SMASH NAZIS

Pont-A-Mousson sector, north of Nancy, the Americans were pushed back across the Moselle.

In Southern France

American troops of the Seventh Army, pushing into Besancon in southern France after a swift advance from Arbois, were engaged in heavy fighting today with Nazi forces attempting to cover the retreat of the battered 19th army remnants fleeing toward the Belfort Gap 50 miles to the northwest.

The gap—situated in the lowlands between the Vosges range and the Swiss border at the lower tip of the Siegfried line—is the sole area where there are no mountains to block the Seventh Army's entrance to the Reich.

The Americans penetrated into the western, southern and eastern sections of Besancon following a series of sharp fights with substantial forces of Germans employing machineguns, mortars and tanks in the first real resistance encountered on the southern French front in several days.

There was no official confirmation here of reports from abroad that elements of the Seventh Army had linked up with Lt. Gen. George S. Patton's Third Army to the north.

Stiff Opposition

French forces sweeping up the Saone Valley on the west flank of the Allied advance made substantial progress after running into stiff opposition north of Chalons-Sur-Saone.

The towns of Mont-Sous-Vaudrey, Quingey, Villers-Farlay, and Salins, were among localities occupied in the American advance. The retreating Germans created road blocks by felling trees at several points.

The French, fighting near Le Valdonon engaged a German column of tanks and armored cars.

Allied headquarters did not state whether the main German force was still in the area between Chalons-Sur-Saone and Besancon, 63 miles to the north-east on the road to the Belfort Gap. A statement that the enemy was "concerned over the threat to his line of retreat" indicated the possibility that some of the main force faced a trap.

The Germans also offered stiff resistance in northern Italy. In the Adriatic sector 12 miles inland from the coast they counter-attacked fiercely with tanks and brought the Allied offensive to a standstill. The Eighth Army advanced another mile on the Adriatic coast and reached the Marano River, only four miles from Rimini. In the western sector American troops advanced within two miles of Pistoia, last important city south of the Gothic Line still in enemy hands.

THE WAR TODAY

The Allied High Command is giving us a perfect example of coordination as it flings everything it has in all theatres at the staggering Hitlerites—on the western front, on the Russian front, in the Balkans, in Italy, and on that other great invisible and ever changing front of the air.

Here we have a display of unity of purpose and viewpoint among the battling Allies which will take us to great heights if we can carry it on into the peace. Things go well for the Allies on all fronts. Naturally there's special interest in the western theatre because it's there that we are closest to the frontier of the enemy—closest to that mysterious and supposedly powerful Siegfried Line which guards the heart of the Reich. We are driving in toward this west wall all along our battle-front.

Secretary of War Stimson says "evidence is mounting that the German armies in the west have been so badly battered that they cannot long maintain a prolonged defense of the Reich, and their situation on the other fronts is deteriorating." That's well put, but he is equally wise when he adds:

"The war won't be won until Allied troops are in Berlin." It needn't take long now to knock Hitler out. But barring a collapse of German morale we must be prepared for some fierce fighting. Indeed we're getting it now, both in the Russian theatre and in the west. In France Patton's famous third army, which again is on the drive after being held up a week for supplies, has encountered heavy resistance along the Moselle River where he has established two river-heads and been thrown back from another.

Hitler's determination to fight to a finish, if he can compel his people to support him, is shown in the really amazing extremes to which he is going in this last ditch stand. Propaganda Minister Goebbels, who has been made minister plenipotentiary for total war, is even conscripting school children for war service in "the fight for our very lives." He also is flinging into the defenses every man and boy who can handle a rifle.

The Nazi leaders are spurring on the public by begging them to stand firm and hold the Allies up until the bad weather of autumn arrives to give the Reich a breathing spell. They say the Allies are racing to win before fall—which undoubtedly is true.

It's indeed a race against time. Anything that delays the Allies now gives Hitler a few more gasps of life. For example Patton's enforced halt, while supplies were brought up, undoubtedly gave the Germans a chance to strengthen their defenses opposite the Third Army, making Patton's progress more difficult now.

The question of supplies presents the western Allied command with one of its biggest tasks. Our battle front is tremendously long, and it has been moving forward so fast that communications have become greatly extended. It's a vast job to provide that line with food and equipment of all sorts. It will be doubly tough until we open up more ports along the English Channel.

That's precisely why the Germans are fighting so hard to hold such useful ports as Le Havre, Brest, Calais and Boulogne. This is just another proof that a great battle isn't confined to the firing line. Without supplies the firing line is helpless.

CHURCH IS TO BURN MORTGAGE NEXT SUNDAY

North Street Church of Christ To Celebrate Debt Lifting

Climaxing services that begin with Sunday school next Sunday morning, followed by regular worship services and a basket dinner at noon, a mortgage burning ceremony marking the freeing of the North Street Church of Christ of all indebtedness, will be held in the church at 2:15 P.M. The public is invited to attend.

The event is an important one in the history of the church and is the closing chapter of many years of effort to lift the indebtedness that was necessary to erect the present attractive church which was dedicated April 2, 1922.

The building was erected at a cost of nearly $50,000 and of this amount $23,383.34 was raised from January 26 to July 26 this year, to complete the final payment on the edifice.

Also during this period the church has been newly redecorated throughout.

Four ministers have occupied the pulpit since it was dedicated: Rev. G. E. Groves, Rev. J. A. Goddard, Rev. Fred I. Gardner, and the present minister, Rev. R. B. Carver.

In addition to building and equipping the church, a new Hammond organ and set of chimes have been installed, the organ having been purchased from funds left by Mrs. S. E. Irvin in memory of Mr. and Mrs. Irvin, and the chimes were purchased by Mr. and Mrs. Heber Deer in memory of his mother, Mrs. Alma McKay Deer.

After many years during which the little band of Church of Christ adherents met at various places, and largely through the efforts of J. C. Irvin, a meeting was held at Irvin's home March 23, 1879, and the church society formally organized, to meet at the Irvin home until a church could be provided.

The Baptists offered their church to the new society and many meetings were held there, as well as in the Court House.

On January 5, 1883, J. C. Irvin deeded to the trustees a lot on the corner of Temple and North streets, where work of building a church started in October, 1884, and the church was to cost $725.

However the church was about half completed when the tornado struck the city Sept. 8, 1885, and many of those who had subscribed to the building fund lost their property and completion of the church was delayed until in 1886, when the congregation, numbering 30, moved in before the church was finished.

As soon as the church was opened the congregation increased rapidly and interest grew, and the building was formally dedicated May 27, 1888.

After the brick church had been used for many years and was found to be too small to properly accommodate the congregation, a new building was planned in 1920 and a building committee was named. This committee was composed of J. C. Vreelove, J. A. Minshall, C. P. West, Dr. W. E. Robinson and J. A. VanGundy.

The last meeting in the old edifice was held April 3, 1921, and cornerstone laid for the new building on July 24, 1921.

The first resident minister for the church was Miss Mary Smith, who served through 1890 and a short time in 1891.

Other ministers in order were: A. J. Sever, Hiram Van Kirk, Austin Hunter, W. G. Voliva, A. A. Honeywell, W. H. Bowden, Grant Waller, J. J. Cole, H. A. Wingard, Bowman Hosteler, Mrs. O. G. Blackwell, G. E. Groves, J. A. Goddard, Fred I. Gardner and R. B. Carver.

Four members of the church have been ordained to the ministry. They are: Hiram Van Kirk, J. A. Long, Z. E. Irvin and Mrs. Marian C. Jarman.

At the present time the membership numbers 600 and the church is in exceptionally good condition.

IN MEMORY

Richard Lee, youngest son of Otto and Mabel Powell, was born October 17, 1943 and was transplanted by the tender hand of the Great Master to his beautiful garden above, September 4, 1944. Scarce eleven months did we have this little darling with us, but with so short a life, many were made happy by the wave of the tiny hand and the gentle lip of the baby tongue of our little precious Dickie.

But one day the gardener was walking in his garden, up and down the beautiful paths he went, until at last, He noticed a vacant space, where he set just a tiny flower, so he sent His angel down to earth and she saw our dear little Dickie and taking him by the hand, she led him to the Great Gardener where he planted him to blossom and bloom forever.

"Oh not in cruelty, not in wrath, The reaper came that day, 'Twas an angel visited the earth And took the flower away. Lord give us strength, our loss to bear And lead us in Thy heavenly way That we may meet our darling there. In realms of everlasting day."

JUST A FRIENDLY CHAT

The question is being asked over and over, why God does not come down and take a hand in the great crime wave that is sweeping the country. He truly would like to come to our aid, but He is powerless to do so as long as sin is set upon a pedestal and being worshipped. God can do something. He will do something, but we first must do something. We must trample sin under our feet, then He will hear, and come to our rescue. "Your iniquities have separated between you and your God and your sins have hid His face from you that He will not hear." Isa. 59:2. Many are praying, but when God comes to answer those prayers, what does He see and hear? He sees the great crime wave. He hears jazz music and dancing. He sees the night club, the brothel, the gambling den and the open saloon. He hears the piteous sobs of ruined women and the hellish sneer of their seducers. God finds our resort cities given over to sinful pleasure and Lord's Day breaking. He sees caravans of female demons incarnate stationed in trailers just outside our army camps, doing their best to drag our sons to Hell. He is met by coarse nudity, vulgar magazines, brazen faced men and women who puff clouds of tobacco smoke insultingly into His face. This is stifling to one so clean and pure as He. So He turns away, leaving us to fight our own battles alone. Do you blame him? Vice, booze and tobacco combined have wrecked the morale of our country. America has gone on a drunken spree. Her cup of iniquity is so full that the scum is running over the top. God says, "I will go and return to my place till they acknowledge their offense, and seek my face, in their afflictions." Isa. 5:15.

We Stand Squarely for the Best Interest of the Citizens of Washington C. H. and Fayette County.

A Foolish Implied Threat
A prominent Washington C. H. citizen informed us this week that in one large industry in the city some employees were being told by a certain organization that "you had better vote, and vote right, because we will know how you are voting."
This type of threat, regardless of whom it is supposed to help or which party or candidates it seeks to "put across," is a vicious type of propaganda which has no rightful place in a free country. It is an attempt to take advantage of uncertain voters' by encouraging a feeling that the ballot is no longer secret.
If the American system of voting means anything, it at least guarantees to every voter that his ballot is secret. He is supposed to be able to vote his honest sentiments without fear that someone will punish him for voting a certain way, because no one is supposed to know how he votes unless the voter himself tells.
When any individual or any organization attempts to coerce voters by implied threats there is grounds for suspicion that that person or organization has a "special ax to grind" and the motive for such action needs investigation.

Help for Poles
The Poles, who have suffered so terribly in this war, at last find a strong defender in the United States. The government at Washington has announced that it officially recognizes the Polish home army as a combat force, and Germany as responsible for reprisals against it. It is hard to tell how effective the warning will be, but at least this nation is doing the decent and honorable thing.
The Poles, located as they are in mid-Europe, have been literally "in the middle" in every sense of that word. Americans have known that they were in great distress, but only of late has it been fully revealed how terribly they have suffered at the hands of the Nazis in revenge for their efforts at self-defense and their loyalty to the Allied Nations.
German prisoners of war familiar with that phase of the European struggle have revealed an incredible story of atrocities committed in cold blood against the Poles. They have calmly told how Polish men, women and children of many nationalities were gassed, hanged, shot, burned and drugged or starved to death in barbed wire enclosures during the last three years. Apparently more than half a million were exterminated methodically, by the most cruel procedures, merely because their enemies hated them and wanted their land. Their slaughter was made a regular business, and their bones were used for fertilizer. It is something that the civilized world will not forget or forgive.

Nazi Pretense
The hollowness of the Nazi pretense of defending Europe from Communism is pointed out by Ilya Ehrenburg, the Russian war correspondent, in his new book, "The Tempering of Russia."
"The Nazis say," writes Ehrenburg, "that they are against the Soviet order. That is a lie. It makes no difference to

Washington at a Glance
By JACK STINNETT
WASHINGTON — Examine the record, talk to the persons involved and their subordinates and you will discover there is no great mystery in the causes of all the official family feuding that has been going on since the current national defense program started.
The WPB break involving Director Donald Nelson and Executive Vice Chairman Charles E. Wilson is the most recent, but in fact it isn't greatly different from the earlier split between Wilson and Ferdinand Eberstadt, his co-worker; or between the State Secretary Cordell Hull and Under Secretary Sumner Welles; or between Jesse Jones and Vice President Wallace.
Here are the general causes:
1. Over-lapping authority. The Wallace-Jones row over expenditure of funds in Latin America is a beautiful example of this. The Vice President had the ideas and plans. Jones had the money.
2. The mistrust of some administration men of big business executives brought in to

He got his low opinion of the enemy's marksmanship when a sniper picked him in the ear. Later, after it was bandaged, he was on patrol when a hidden Nazi fired at him. The bullet clipped the bandage from Dudley's wounded ear as if it had been snipped with a sharp pair of scissors.
Dudley hit the dirt and looking around for the bandage, said bitterly:
"What did I tell you? See—those blankety-blank blanks can't shhh-shoot."

Keep your voice low and well modulated in public. Loud laughter and talk brand one as lacking in good taste and breeding.
Today's Horoscope
You are artistic and musical; have positive ideas and like having your own way. You are discriminating and shrewd, a good student, deep thinker, and an interesting talker. Loving, faithful and devoted to your family, you will probably not fall in love at first sight. The next 12 months will be fraught with sudden unexpected difficulties and reversals, especially relating to employers, government officials and lawyers. Interviews and correspondence will need tactful handling. Born on this date a child will show much analytical and scientific ability, as well as outstanding talent in the arts. Occasional financial upheavals are also indicated.

Three Thousand Airports
The aeronautical Chamber of Congress, suggesting that peace-time airplane manufacturing is now just about where the automobile industry was a generation ago, would like to have the government build 3,000 new airports, of which all but 100 would be small fields for the use of private planes. The estimated cost would be about $1,000,000,000.
In a war-time era when billions are tossed about so lightly that money has almost lost its meaning, such a project may be welcomed hilariously, with the casual query of "What's another billion dollars more or less?" Many citizens, however, will ask seriously whether this is the way to go about such a problem. Many will wonder why the expansion of aviation may not be safely left to private enterprise, as was automobile expansion. Some will ask, too, what is going to happen to the vast system of public highways we have built, at great expense, if traffic in general takes to the air.
Those tornadoes, recently ripping things up around the country, may be the noise of Mother Nature awkwardly trying to get into the fall campaign.

Wide Application
To show how wide are the applications of this branch of medicine I review some of the articles in a recent symposium.
1. Circulatory disorders. Remembering Franz Alexander's dictum that psychosomatic symptoms are not symbols of emotions, as so many neurotic symptoms are, they do not express an emotion, but are the physiological accompaniments of an emotion, it is easy to understand how the heart and blood vessels are affected by the psyche. Blushing, pounding of the heart, fast pulse are all physiological accompaniments of psychic states. Translate these into hot flashes and palpitation and you have the functional disease equivalent of a psychosomatic state.
Blood pressure is an ideal example of a condition where there are both physical and spiritual sides to the problem. Calm people are not likely to have high blood pressure; I do not believe this is cause and effect, but that both arise from a basic personality pattern. The high blood pressure people are those with the driving force and energy. To calm them down is to improve their state.
2. Digestive disorders. Just as in the circulatory field there are from the leaders of the medical profession. The word psychosomatic is derived from the Greek roots—psyche, meaning the spiritual parts of a man, the mind and the soul, and soma, meaning the physical parts, the body.

Its fundamental concept is that it is just as important to know what kind of a man the disease has as what kind of a disease the man has. Just as in normal living psyche and soma are biologically one, there is no division between them, so are they in the development of most chronic disease conditions. In treating them we cannot afford to concentrate on the physical state alone.
"In any problem involving a sick person," said a wise old physician of former times, "there are two elements. One is the disease itself and the other is what the patient thinks of the disease. The physician can always to a certain extent control the latter, even if he can't make much change in the physical condition."
QUESTIONS AND ANSWERS
W. A. S.: I have some sugar in the urine and have been advised to eliminate all starches from my diet. Will you give me a list of foods to avoid?
A.: You do not need to eliminate all starches from the diet. It depends on how much sugar you have in your urine and how much carbohydrate you can utilize. In general you can eat meat, eggs, cheese, green vegetables, some fruits, gelatin desserts, tea or coffee without sugar. You should avoid concentrated sugars and starches like granulated sugar, bread, cakes, ice cream, pies, potatoes, and very sweet fruits.
L. R.: Would you tell me why friendship bracelets tarnish so easily on me? They are sterling silver. My friends who have bracelets like mine do not have that trouble. Is it because I have too much acid in my system?
Answer: When the perspiration contains sulphur in excess it forms a sulphur compound with silver which causes the tarnishing. When a doctor gives a patient a medicine containing sulphur in the veins, any silver ornament the patient is wearing tarnishes. Nickel ornaments tarnish from chlorides in the perspiration.

SYNOPSIS
A leading and popular resident of Talbot, sleepy little Chesapeake Bay village, is Mrs. Eunice Reynolds, elderly and unable to walk, but the possessor of young ideas. She has been dominated by her strong-willed granddaughter.
LAURA, who lives with her, Mrs. Reynolds hires ANNE WILSON, personable young New Yorker, to be her nurse. Longtime fiancée of Laura is RUSSELL SMITH, conservative young attorney. The placidity of Russell's life is shattered by the arrival, after a long absence, of his outspoken, liberal brother, DAN.
YESTERDAY: Laura drops in at Russell's home while he and Anne and Dan are having dinner.
CHAPTER FOURTEEN
MRS. REYNOLDS closed her eyes to better remember the past. She dozed a little. It was strange she should be thinking so much about boats today. It must be because Anne had gone out for a little sail in a "scrappy-cat" which Dan Smith had borrowed from a man who worked in Mr. Wylie's boatyard. Anne had pretended not to want to go, but it hadn't been a very good pretense. As a bluffer, Anne wasn't much good. You could see right through her. Of course she wanted to go out with Dan. Any girl would. He made you laugh. You forgot his shabby clothes and saw only his laughing eyes.
Mrs. Reynolds sighed and watched the sailboat make a long tack toward Benet's Point. Dan was good with a boat, although he'd breezily told Anne that she'd better say her prayers before he'd been good at whatever he wanted to do for as long as he wanted to do it. The trouble had been that, even as a boy, he never wanted to stick to anything. His mother had spoiled him. He never had been made to do the mark. But even when he'd been most infuriating, he always had been charming to anyone who would yield to the spell of his madcap personality.
Dan was still charming. He had appeared at Miss Molly's with Anne, saying, "I made her bring me to see if you'd still remember me." As if anybody ever could or would forget Dan Smith. You could resent him or dislike him—most people did—but no one could forget him. He had walked beside her chair as Anne pushed it on the way home. He had made her laugh and want to strike him with her cane at the same time. That was two weeks ago. Since then he had stayed on with his brother and done odd jobs: digging, mowing, clipping hedges, any odd thing that turned up. He had laughed when she suggested Russell should

From Jail to Jail via Island Throne
By EDWARD KENNEDY
ROME — When the Fifth Army landed at Salerno last September and the King and the Badoglio government fled Rome, Sgt. Ferruccio Talamonte was one who benefited. He was released from jail. For Ferruccio it was an opportunity. The Germans were busy fighting the Allies and not worrying too much about anything as long as it did not obstruct the German Army.
Ferruccio obtained a German uniform, showed up at the little island of Giglio, some ten miles off the Tuscan coast. Of no strategic value, the island had 2,000 inhabitants, mostly fishermen and farmers, no military force, only local police, the carabinieri. He announced that the full force of the Fascist state was behind him. His German uniform also impressed the islanders since he had added lieutenant's stripes to it.
A Private Army
Ferruccio announced that he had come to recruit men for the Fascist army. Then he shyly ordered that a home guard be organized and let it be known that volunteers for home guard duty would not be drafted for the army. On this basis, he soon had a private army that outnumbered the carabinieri and from then on Giglio led a reign of terror.
He forbade any islander to go to the mainland on pain of death and imprisonment of his family, so none went. He set up a censorship which consisted of tearing up all incoming and outgoing mail except his own. He invited himself and his "general staff" to the homes of prominent islanders for feasts in his honor. He held various islanders for ransom and if they had no money he accepted jewelry.
Cousin To The King
By this time Ferruccio was wearing three stripes on a set of fancy uniforms, made up by the sisters of an island convent. He announced that he had been appointed minister of state and had received the Order of the Annunziata, the highest Italian decoration which made him "a cousin of the king."
For nine months the rule of Governor General Ferruccio Talamonte (he used this title at the end) went on. When he learned the Fifth Army was on the Carpathian coast, he thought the Americans might, out of curiosity, visit his domain and arranged for a trip to the mainland. He departed with practically all the cash and jewelry on the island.
At the Allied headquarters, Ferruccio announced that he had

Thad Phibbs has a theory of enjoyment all his own. The more tired he is from working at the War Plant, the more fun he has pitching horseshoes with the boys these summer evenings.
"That's because I feel that I deserve it," Thad says simply. And I wonder if he isn't right. I wonder if we don't enjoy things in proportion as we know we've earned them. Is a little relaxation ever more welcome than after a hard day's work? Do we appreciate our little pleasures quite as much as when we know in our hearts we've done a good job well?
From where I sit, that's one of the things this wartime strain has taught us. We're all of us working hard at our jobs, doing our level best to pull our weight. And we're learning the little rewards, the simple pleasures—a home-cooked meal, a glass of beer with friends—are more welcome now than ever... because we've earned them!

232 Teachers in City and County to Get $18,000

RAISE WILL NOT BE BLANKET SAY SCHOOL HEADS

City School Board May Be Eligible for Reimbursement On Borrowed Money

City and county school employees today were assured a pay boost, but just how much the hike will go to each individual will be decided by the individual school boards.

A fairly accurate estimate shows the city school system will get $13,200 and the county system between $15,000 and $16,000. The estimates are based on the provision of the bill passed by state legislature Wednesday that the allocation of funds would be made on the basis of $8 per each pupil in average daily attendance during the school year 1943-44.

W. S. Paxson, Fayette County's representative to the general assembly, explained the legislature specifically earmarked the $8,860,000 appropriated for school employees but said the bill did not make any provisions that the money be used for a blanket increase. The amounts of the raises will be up to the school boards.

W. J. Hilty, superintendent of county schools, and A. B. Murray, superintendent of city schools both said they did not believe the school boards would apply the funds in blanket increases for every school employee.

The county schools have 154 employees—78 teachers, 40 bus drivers, 15 janitors, 20 cooks and a secretary. If the money were distributed on an even basis, which is considered unlikely, each of the 154 employees would receive something like $110 for this school year more.

The 78 employed by city schools—63 teachers and 15 other employees (janitors, engineers, bus drivers, secretaries)—would receive a $169 per school year raise if the money were distributed in a blanket raise, which also was considered improbable.

The $8,860,000 appropriated by the legislature was set aside solely for employees' salaries. Another $500,000 was labelled for school improvements and $275,000 was designated to reimburse school boards which had borrowed money to pay teachers' salaries.

Supt. Murray said the city school board had borrowed money to pay salaries and added that it might ask for reimbursement from the $275,000 fund. He said figures on the amount the board had borrowed was not immediately available. Such requests must be made by October 15 and Murray indicated action on the question probably will be taken September 19 when the school board meets. At the same time, the fund for employees' salary boosts will be distributed, he intimated.

The salary money is specified by the legislature to cover the 1944-45 school year but is payable at once. Whether or not the school boards will distribute it all before January 1 in the hope of getting another appropriation later or spread it out over the entire nine months of school is a big question mark in the new setup.

Murray and Hilty agreed that funds for the pay hike came too late to help the teacher situation much this year. Had it come earlier, teachers who left for higher-paid positions might have remained and new teachers might have been easier to employ.

In the county schools alone, 16 teachers left for other positions. They were Doris Dick and Ray Gorman from Bloomingburg; Isabel Beaver, Elizabeth Dunkel, Charles Montgomery and Marie Montgomery from Jeffersonville; H. George Robertson and Fontabelle Harris at Madison Mills; Sara McSpadden from Good Hope; Clara Belle Patton from Buena Vista; Olive Prosch, Dorothy Everhart and Rebecca Thompson from Marion; Mabel Cannon and Louise Laymaster from Yatesville and Marion Moore from Chaffin.

When those 16 teachers left, it meant others must take their places. New and transferred teachers in the county system are: Winifred Harper, Mary Mott, Frances Kearney and Olive Rea, Bloomingburg; Robert Creamer, Marion Gage and Bess Anders, Good Hope; Hazel Brackney, Nancy Cummings and Dorothy McDonald, Olive; Margaret McCoy, Dorothy Crone, Helen Pope, Marion; Bertha Slagel and Gretchen Jefferson, Yatesville; Pauline Kellough, Chaffin, and Edith Forsythe, Wilson.

In the city system, 13 teachers left, either for new teaching positions, to enter the service or for jobs in other professions. Walter F. Rettig, high school principal, is now secretary of the First Federal Savings and Loan Association. R. A. Aughinbaugh, art and photography teacher, is in the Navy; Mrs. Margaret Schneider Bailey, commercial teacher, is teaching the same subject at New Lexington; Paul Fitzwater, music supervisor, has moved to Piqua High School; W. W. Jackson, world history, auto mechanics and English 10, is believed to be teaching near Columbus; Jerry Kissell, football coach, is an ensign in the Navy; George Miraben, basketball coach, is principal at Gahanna High School; Edythe Stolzenburg, girls' health and physical education, has a position with American Airlines.

Ohio League Women Voters State President Will Be Speaker at Luncheon Here

Mrs. Katherine C. Bang of Cleveland, Versatile Writer and Speaker, To Address Club Here

Mrs. Jean S. Nisley, president of the Fayette County League of Women Voters, has made the announcement that Mrs. Katherine C. Bang, of Cleveland, state president of the Ohio League of Women Voters will pay a visit to Washington C. H. on Thursday, September 21, to launch the fall opening of the activities of the league in Fayette County.

Mrs. Bang, a former newspaper woman, is a versatile writer and speaker. She combines a charming personality with an unusual insight and business ability, and she has a wide knowledge of governmental affairs, both national and international.

The work of the League of Women Voters is never done. After the prolonged struggle of the National American Suffrage Association which resulted in the passage of the 19th amendment, and secured for women the right to vote, at the victory convention in 1920, was organized the League of Women Voters to "finish the fight" by teaching women to wield ballots wisely.

The work of the league is educational along strictly non-partisan lines and its 60,000 members have found it one of the most reliable sources of information available to a citizen. Men as well as women have acquired confidence in the unbiased reports of the league.

The office of the National League of Women Voters at 726 Jackson Place, Washington D. C., has a personnel of highly trained workers whose business it is to send out accurate information on governmental affairs through bi-weekly reports to members of the league throughout the nation.

The State league also has a body of especially trained workers who keep in touch with county organizations, who send out condensed information on legislation and the political views of candidates, and thereby help busy women make up their minds on how to be intelligent voters.

The Fayette County League of Women will honor Mrs. Bang with a one o'clock luncheon on Thursday, September 21, for which the president, Mrs. Nisley, will announce committees and other arrangements at a later date.

MILLIONS IN SECURITY FUND NEVER CLAIMED

Some Phases of the Social Security Plan Have Been Overlooked

In all probability some Fayette Countians are entitled to social security payments to which they do not know they are eligible, according to Donald Cooley, who in an article in True Confessions Magazine, writes that millions of dollars in the fund throughout the nation are waiting to be claimed by people eligible to do so.

It is pointed out that most people fail to realize that Social Security not only brings benefits to the aged but also is insurance which can yield, in times of stress, amounts from $10 to $85 per month.

The article continues:

"If you're a widow left with small children and your husband has had Social Security deductions for 3 years, you are entitled to a monthly check. The amount of the check is determined by the salary paid your husband."

"In the event your husband is killed while in service and your child is born after his death, you are entitled to the same claims as those in civilian life. A husband is 'fully' insured if, when he died he had earned $50 a month in half the quarters that Social Security has been in effect. Suppose his average monthly wages were $125 for 5 years, the widow will receive a check for $36.10, each month until the child is 16, or 18 if remaining in school."

"If your husband when he died was 'currently' insured—in other words Social Security deductions had been made only for about a year and a half—you will not receive a monthly check. Instead, you will get a lump sum payment. For instance, if his average monthly salary was $150, the government will send you a check for $185."

"To those who have paid the burial expenses of an insured worker who left no relatives, the Cooley article advises making a claim. Such persons will be reimbursed provided the amount is not more than the benefit owed."

"There are other circumstances and technicalities which determine when, and how much you can collect. Some professions are not covered by Social Security, nor are agriculture and domestic labor. However, if you once were in the domestic field or a teacher, and are now a war worker, you are eligible for certain benefits."

"To claim what is owed you, or to solve any problem dealing with Old Age and Survivors' Insurance, write to the Social Security Board at Baltimore, Maryland. They will tell you exactly where you stand."

"Your Social Security card may not in itself be sold at a pawn shop, but it is worth a lot of money to you if you claim your benefits."

GERMANY MAY WIN PEACE, IS WARNING

Grabbing Trade Monopolies Must Be Prevented, Belief

WASHINGTON, Sept. 8.—(AP)—Germany may win the peace, Assistant Attorney General Wendell Bege told Senators today, unless she is prevented from gaining trade monopolies through the Cartel system.

The chief of the justice department's antitrust division testified before a military affairs subcommittee that international trade agreements such as he said existed between Carl Zeiss of Jena, Germany, and the Bausch and Lomb Optical Company of Rochester, N. Y., enabled Germany to sabotage the effectiveness of the Versailles Treaty after World War I.

TAXCO — The Town That Must Not Change!

Mexico's Silver Mountain City National Monument

By DAVID I. DAY
Central Press Correspondent

TAXCO, Mexico—Despite war curtailment, this little silver mining town continues to be "home" to an increasing number of people from many lands, particularly from the United States.

For some reason, this locality from whence came the first silver shipped to Spain after the Aztecs were conquered appeals most strongly to folk from staid old New England. Over the years, much comment has been excited by the number of persons from New Hampshire and Vermont who have found their way here—some for short winter stays, others to live here for years.

It is not so strange that this oldest regular mining town on the continent should attract so many writers, painters, teachers. It is a picturesque place, situated at 5,600 feet above the sea in the Guerrero mountains, surrounded by the most mountainous territory in all Mexico. It is adjacent to a fine highway and bus service from Mexico City to Acapulco.

For many years, Taxco remained strictly colonial because of its isolation. Now, it continues strictly colonial by law. To all intents and purposes, the whole town of approximately 4,000 souls is what is called a "national monument" in the United States.

No modern-type structure of any sort may be built in the town. Only one street is wide enough for automobile traffic—the short stretch from the highway to the principal plaza. Even on this stretch of street, there is no inducement for speeding.

No Filling Stations
This one automobile street leads winding and twisting through a narrow canyon flanked by steep, ancient walls, old adobe homes to the plaza, center of life in the town and the only level spot in it. So it is not only law but the natural result of supply and demand that all the filling stations remain outside the city limits.

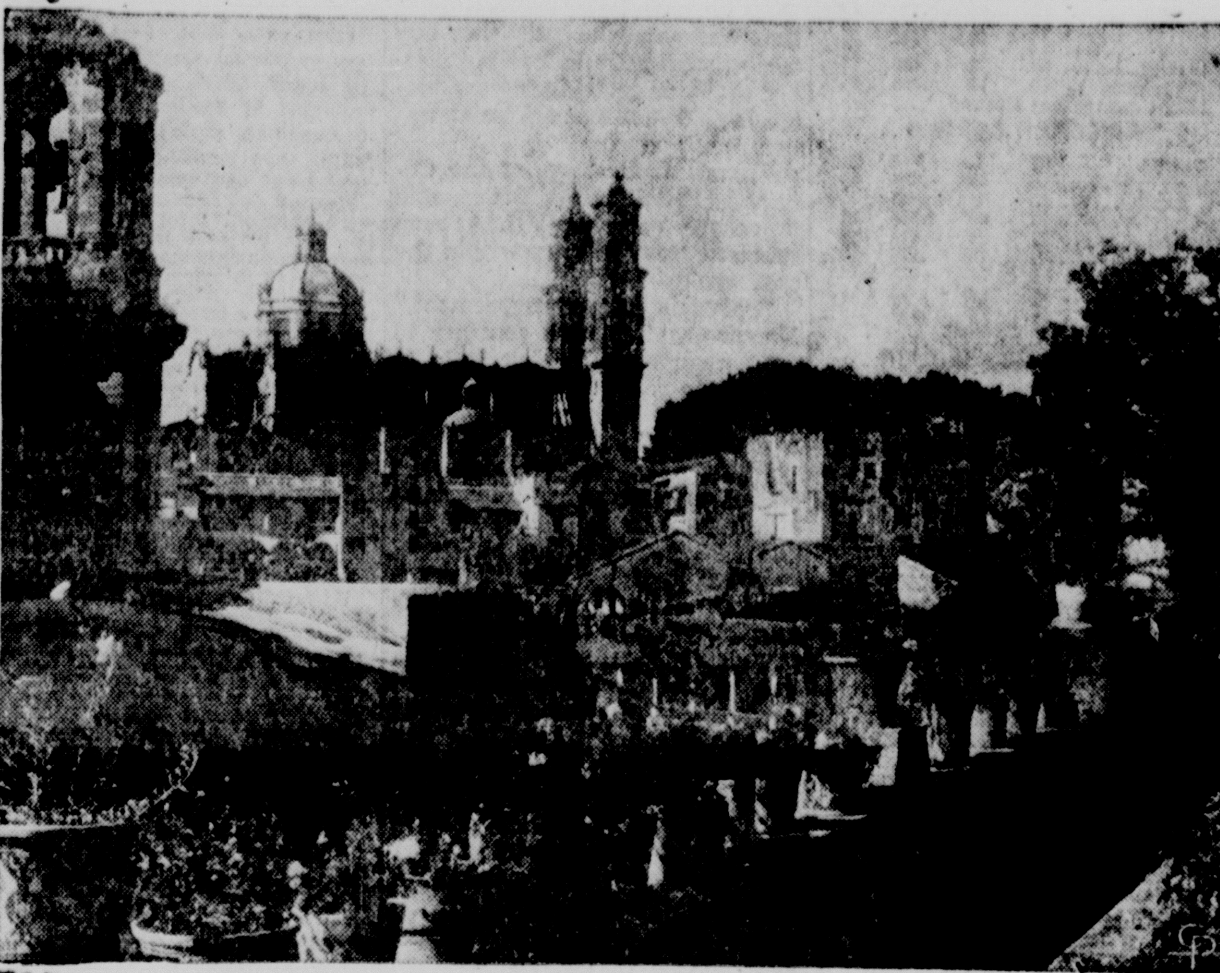

Much discussion has arisen over the years as to why this region appeals so greatly to the New Englander. It is due likely to the heavily contrasting backgrounds and cultures. To bleak New England shores, settlers came, impelled by a deep desire for religious liberty. Once established, they labored for generations to wrest a bare living from the scanty soil.

No such notions ever touched Taxco. As far back as local tradition runs, the Indians were easily removing fortunes in silver from these mountains. Taxco silver embellished the royal halls of Montezuma and the gleaming temples of Cenochtitlan.

The white metal filled ships to go back to the wandering monarchs of Spain. Conquistadores Cortes and the other conquerors never gazed upon a greater concentration of mineral wealth than they discovered here—the mines already working.

Of late years, since the highway opened up, people from many nations and walks of life have tasted the sweets of Taxco and some remained to help shape the town's modern destiny.

For example, the Wells-Fargo interests from the United States changed an old Spanish-Moorish country retreat into one of the world's most distinctive hotels. The express company also went into the bus business and streamlined buses were soon running here from the nation's capital and on to the great seashore resorts on the Pacific.

The buses make the run from Mexico City to the local plaza, a distance of 102 miles through the mountains, in five or six hours.

Mr. and Mrs. J. H. Sutherland, progressive Americans, have long been leaders here, operating a great hotel, a converted Spanish colonial villa. William Sprattling of the United States started a silver shop, Newcomers are invariably amused at talk of "old Taxco" and "new Taxco" for the new town was started in 1522 by Cortes, the Spanish conqueror. The old town dated back to time immemorial, possibly to the pre-Aztec Toltecs, and was situated some seven or eight miles southeast of here. From the time of conquistadores to 1717 the currents of life moved slowly. Then came the fabulous Frenchman, Joseph le Borde.

Taxco's Famous Church

Le Borde opened many new silver mines and was soon a multi-millionaire. He was lavish in gifts to church and charity in many Mexican cities. His crowning achievement was building and furnishing the Church of Taxco.

This lovely edifice cost up to eight million pesos and rates today as probably the most complete monument to ecclesiastical art in the Western Hemisphere.

From the air, its many-hued glazed tile dome looks like a gigantic tropical flower. The edifice is filled with rare paintings and other works of art, much dating well back into colorful colonial times.

The church faces the central plaza with its Indian laurel and other fine trees. For over 400 years this plaza has been market place and meeting place of Indians, Spaniards, and now of Americans and others. It is the outdoor waiting room for buses to and from the capital and the coast. It is the first and last Taxco spot touched by the feet of travelers.

The plaza here is much the same, yesterday, today, and tomorrow—and incidentally a much photographed spot of recent years. It is particularly inviting to kodakers on Sundays and feast days when the clanging church bells call the faithful to service. Then come in the country folk in starched attire and ribbons, barefoot or wearing yellow shoes, faces bright and smiling—as they've been coming for centuries.

FARM SURPLUS SALE AT CUT RATES URGED

Secretary of Agriculture Makes Proposal

WASHINGTON, Sept. 8.—(AP)—Secretary of Agriculture Wickard today suggested postwar international agreements providing for sale of world farm surpluses to poorer countries at special "cut-rate" prices.

Such sales would be in addition to quantities which would move in normal trade relations under other provisions of such agreements setting each exporting country's share of world markets and fixing world trade prices.

In a report written to a special House committee on postwar planning, Wickard said future farm programs should encourage "full and efficient" production with prices of domestically-consumed portions of crops supported by the government at equitable levels.

NEW YORK, Sept. 8.—(AP)—Of all the arguments for and against night baseball, the one likely to carry the most weight is seen in the following note which appeared in the Atlanta Constitution last Tuesday morning: "Due to a partial holiday in the Constitution's composing room yesterday there is no story on the sports page regarding the Atlanta Crackers-New Orleans double-header last night." . . . The Nazi radio reports the Hungarian swimming association has barred a number of its best swimmers from competition for refusing to take part in an intra-Axis meet at Bratislav. Probably figured they wouldn't have a chance against the Germans, who have been showing great ability as tankers.

Before the Bears-all star football game, Sid Luckman spent considerable time composing a speech to deliver in accepting the Joe Carr Memorial Trophy as the most valuable player in the national football season. Coach Luke Johnson, who listened to Sid's rehearsals until he knew the speech better than Luckman, had to stand by at the big moment while Sid stammered into the mike: "Thanks, er—er—everybody. Thanks." . . . "All that punishment I took for that," Johnson moaned afterward. "And to top it off, they gave Sid the wrong trophy."

Browns and Yankees in Tie;
Reds Beat Pirates, 2 to 1

By JACK HAND
(By the Associated Press)

St. Louis was back atop the American League today, tied with the New York Yankees, after three days in second place, but infield jitters and the onrushing Detroit Tigers gave Manager Luke Sewell no peace of mind. Joe McCarthy's clan was due to open a cut throat series with the fourth place Boston Red Sox at Fenway Park today while St. Louis hoped to continue paving their "cousins" from Chicago whom they have drubbed 10 out of 14 starts.

The Browns almost missed their chance to tie the idle Yanks last night because of early-inning boots against Chicago. Three runs in the ninth inning, two off the bat of Mike Chartak who came through with a bases loaded single, turned the tide, 5 to 4.

Tex Shirley, the third St. Louis hurler, was credited with his fifth win over reliever Gordy Hantzberger in a game played before 6,455 Chicago fans.

Detroit pulled to within a single game of the deadlocked leaders on a Dizzy Trout's three-hit shutout of Cleveland, 3-0, for his 24th victory. The eccentric righthander's record showed 28 complete games, six shutouts (tops in the American) for 297 innings of effort.

Roger Cramer stretched his amazing hit string to 24 safe blows in his last 44 at bats as the Tigers raked Jim Bagby for nine singles and a double in his seven-inning stay.

Although there were only two hits listed in the American, the National presented an all-night program featured by St. Louis'

RED BIRDS
WIN TWO

(By the Associated Press)

Columbus swept both ends of a doubleheader from Louisville, 3-0 and 6-5, last night, to pull within nine percentage points of fourth place St. Paul in a battle for an American Association playoff berth. In a single game at Toledo the Mud Hens clinched second place with a 5-2 victory over Indianapolis.

Lefty Bill Seinsch went the route to give the Hens their sixth consecutive triumph and his 16th win.

Milwaukee, which won its fifth American Association pennant Wednesday night, halved another doubleheader with St. Paul last night, losing the seven inning opener 2-1 and copping the nightcap 10-3. Charlie Gassaway scored his 16th win against eight defeats in the finale.

In the opener at Columbus Ken Burkhardt held the Colonels to one hit in seven innings to mark up his 14th victory. The hit, a single, was in the first inning by Ben Steiner, Louisville first baseman. The nightcap was not decided until the Red Birds' half of the 11th inning when singles by John Antonelli and Tommy Heath together with a walk to Jo Mack and a force out produced the winning run.

Kansas city committed 11 errors in its doubleheader with Minneapolis last night but managed to split even, winning the seven inning opener, 6-4, and dropping the nightcap, 11-2.

Five Japanese divisions driving through southeast China captured the American air base at Lingling. Berlin radio, which has repeatedly said U. S. troops were in China ready for action, had reported three Yank divisions had been deployed in an effort to save the base and block the Nipponese attempt to cut China in two.

A Chinese Army spokesman reported Japanese troops were massing in northern Indo-China preparatory to driving northward to speed Tokyo's campaign to slice off all of coastal China.

At Lingling the Japanese were reported advancing on a 60 mile front. They were only 100 miles from Kweilin, which Axis reports have described as a key point of the U. S. Asiatic air force.

initial bid of $1 but the price climbed to $5 before auctioneer Art Rodgers sold it. Eleven remaining wheelbarrows then were offered at the flat $5 figure.

Bids on a clawhammer jumped from 30 to 80 cents. A balling hand pump sold for $125. An iron heating stove, minus one leg, opened at $1 but sold for $350. Fiber helmets, used by construction workers, went for 50 cents each.

One visitor identifying himself as the representative of a surplus commodities dealer, remarked: "At these prices I am not interested."

Gene Van Tilburg of the Farmers Livestock Sale Co., Ashland, is agent-in-charge of the sale. Van Tilburg is co-sponsor of a weekly livestock auction in Ashland.

"If this auction proves satisfactory," Stambaugh said, "the DPC and WFA plan similar sales at regular livestock auctions elsewhere. There are 380 DPC installations over the country from which used goods might come."

He added that the government agencies hope to sell most miscellaneous surplus goods within six months.

"We seek wide distribution rather than to allow the items to go into the hands of speculators who might acquire them for as little as 10 cents on the dollar, then hold them for higher prices," Stambaugh said.

Transported from Cleveland, the goods were displayed in lots partitioned by bales of straw in the Fairground exhibition building.

Shell Purchases
Unnecessary for Hunting Licenses

COLUMBUS, Sept. 8.—(AP)—

Ohio nimrods today were advised that merchants who insist they buy a hunting license before purchasing shells or cartridges were violating Office of Price Administration regulations.

Francis J. Massaro, of the Columbus District OPA Office, said numerous complaints had been received from hunters within the past week.

"This is a tying-in agreement," Massaro said, "and is contrary to OPA regulations which state 'a refusal to sell goods except in combination with other goods is a violation.'"

He advised hunters that the ceiling prices on shells and cartridges are: shotgun shells (25 per box), 12 gauge, $1.38; 16 gauge, 20 gauge, $1.32; rifle cartridges (50 per box), 22 caliber long, 34 cents and 22 caliber short, 21 cents.

Today's warning came one before opening of the squirrel season in the northern section of the state September 15.

To meet local conditions, the state is divided into two parts, with the season opening in the lower half September 30.

first half of the speech Dewey quoted Maj. Gen. Lewis B. Herche, Selective Service director, as saying that "we can keep people in the army about as cheaply as we could create an agency for them when they are out." He was asked for comment on this.

The president replied by asking whether that is part of General Hershey's work.

Isn't his job to get people into the army? the president asked. The reporter said that was not his question, but Mr. Roosevelt said he had made a pretty good reply too.

Asked about Dewey's assertion that the New Deal administration is "afraid of peace" because it doubted its ability to provide jobs and get the country going again, the president said reporters could say that the president smiled broadly and said nothing.

GRAIN MARKET
NEWS SUMMARY

CHICAGO, Sept. 8.—AP—The oats futures market steadied in late trading today after heavy liquidation prompted by further sharp reduction in Canadian export taxes on that grain. Rye remained unsettled in a light trade and wheat was firm. Resting demand and short covering were apparent throughout the day in the oats pit and traders said losses were surprisingly small in view of a six cent break in prices on the New York cash market. Near the close scattered buying came into the market and offerings dropped off.

The wheat trade tapered off near the close. There had been little pressure on the market and Commission Houses had resting orders for the December contract at $1.50. At the close wheat was unchanged to 1/4 higher than yesterday's finish, September $1.54 1/4. Oats were off 1/4 to 3/4, September 57 1/2. Rye was off 1/4 to 1 1/4, September 94 1/4. Barley was off 1/4 to 1 1/4, September $1.03 1/4.

"What Hope for Peace," is the cry of the women of America, Werner W. Schroeder of Illinois, vice chairman of the Republican national committee, declared in a speech prepared for delivery in Louisville today.

"There is but one answer," Schroeder told members of the National Federation of Women's Republican Clubs at their third biennial convention. "Under the New Deal the hope for peace is no greater than the broken promises of the New Deal—under the Republican administration the hope for peace will be fully realized."

"Four years ago the New Deal was again returned to power, largely on the argument that its experience in the then recent foreign affairs fitted it to keep this country out of war," the vice chairman said. "A little more than a year later we were in foreign wars and the men of America are now fighting on every continent."

Record-Herald Is Compiling War Casualty List

HELP OF PUBLIC IS ESSENTIAL TO MAKE COMPLETE

Blank Form Is Printed for Convenience of Families and Friends To Give Data

Hundreds of boys from Washington C. H. and Fayette County's farms and villages today are fighting all over the world.

To them, those they left behind can never pay adequately their debt. But, they can show their gratitude in a small way by remembering them and the sacrifices they have made and are still making.

Time may dim the memory of the price they pay—unless there is a complete and accurate record.

There is no complete record of the men who served in the first World War, although several attempts have been made to compile one. And, all efforts to compile one for this war are meeting with only partial success. It is generally agreed that an accurate and complete roster of Fayette County men who served their country in the armed forces never can be made. The Selective Service Board here has tried to work out a plan for making up one, but "admittedly is as far from its objective as when it started. The board's list contains only the names of the men who were registered with it or who were inducted through it. The American Legion, it is agreed, has the most nearly complete list for its honor roll on the Court House lawn—but there still are some Fayette County men who enlisted early in the war or before it or went into the service from another place of residence not on it. The Legion list was made up of names of service men supplied by the Draft Board plus those given by friends and relatives.

A casualty list of Fayette County men should be easier to compile. The names of the men who gave their lives, their blood from wounds, those who are missing in action and never will return and those who spent weeks of mental and physical suffering in enemy prisons should be kept so the future generation they suffered to save will not forget the price they paid.

The Record-Herald is going to compile a casualty list of Fayette County men—but the cooperation of relatives and friends of service men is essential if the list is to be accurate and complete.

The task is undertaken with a full knowledge of its complexities and difficulties.

The list is to be made up of men who were born in Washington C. H. or Fayette County, men who were born elsewhere but have lived here and men who were born or lived in adjacent sections of adjoining counties (within a 15-mile radius of Washington C. H.).

It is to record the rank (from private to general, seaman to admiral) name and age; the branch of service (army, navy, marine corps and coast guard and their aerial branches); type of casualty (killed, wounded, injured, missing, died, etc.); circumstances regarding (when, where and how); date and place of entry into service; prewar occupation; schools attended; names of parents and addresses; whether married and number of children.

An effort is to be made to make the data as comprehensive as possible and cooperation is essential. It is hoped that no one will neglect to send in information under the presumption that someone else will. Checking in the Record-Herald office will eliminate duplication.

SELLS MANAGER ZERO LOCKERS

Fifteen Tons of Ice Are Removed from Plant

Allen Sells, for many years a member of the Washington C. H. Police Force, will, effective Sept. 15, become meat cutter and manager in charge of the Zero Lockers plant purchased by the Fayette Farm Bureau Cooperative Association, located on Main Street, it was announced Friday.

While he has not resigned as a member of the police force, it is understood that his resignation will be tendered within a short time, as his new work, will be a full time job.

The plant, which has been undergoing renovation and is being redecorated, has also been defrosted, probably for the first time since it was installed several years ago, and 15 tons of ice removed from about the lockers.

All boxes and containers are being repaired and painted.

The plant will be open Thursday afternoons as well as all other business hours, it is stated.

The information will be compiled from day to day and be available to the public and become a public record after the war.

Because of different places of residence, different places of entry into service and different places of residence of next of kin, it is difficult to make up the casualty list from notifications sent out by the War and Navy Departments.

Information should be addressed to Miss Martha Berend at the Record-Herald. She will compile the data and keep the list up to date, both casualties of the past and those inevitable in the future.

A blank form will be printed from time to time in the Record-Herald. Please fill it out to the best of your knowledge. If some of the information wanted is not known, send in what you do know. See page six of this issue.

The present Record-Herald list contains 31 names of men who have given their lives for their country. Some were killed in action, some in accidents and some died of natural causes. The list, it is felt, is not complete. The same is true of those wounded, missing and held prisoner. So, for that reason, the names of all, no matter when the casualties occurred, are wanted.

The boys are entitled to this much.

$17,316 COMES TO COMMUNITY FROM TAG TAX

City Receives $3,000 and County and Villages The Remainder

Out of $5,226,552 auto license tag tax collected by the state and ready for distribution to cities and counties for building, repair and maintenance of city streets and county highways, a total of $17,316 comes to this community, and Washington C. H. will receive $3,000 of the amount in the present distribution.

In addition to $3,000 coming to Washington C. H., the county's 25 percent fund is $2,800 and 47 percent fund $11,303.50; Bloomington receives $75; Jeffersonville $100; and Milledgeville $37.50.

This is the second disbursement of auto license returns to cities and counties by the state highway department this year. The first distribution, amounting to $9,394,380 was made in May. This brings the total amount to $14,620,932, with a further disbursement to be made later in the year.

Under the law, 77 percent of the net tag tax revenues is returned to the cities and counties, and the balance of 23 percent is retained by the Ohio Department of Highways for the maintenance and repair of state highways.

In addition to license tax revenues, 43.75 percent of the state gasoline tax receipts accruing for street and highway purposes is returned to the cities, counties, and townships for the maintenance, repair, and construction of city streets, county highways, and township roads. One-fourth of the state gasoline tax returns is diverted from street and highway purposes into the general revenue fund. One-sixth of city gas tax monies is required to be expended on the extension of state highways through the municipality, and additional aid on these streets is supplied by the Ohio Department of Highways.

Dr. William Bolton, of the Fayette County Health Department, took the head of a dog to Ohio State University for examination for rabies, but the report was negative.

The dog had been killed on the C. B. Rowe farm in the Conner School community after it had showed indications of rabies or other disease. It was a female foxhound and did not belong in that immediate community.

ENROLLMENT IN WCH SCHOOLS INCREASES 64

1,714 Attend First Day, But Records Friday Jump To 1,805

Enrollment in Washington C. H. schools jumped from 1,741 to 1,805 from Tuesday to Friday, Superintendent A. B. Murray said today. Counting 80 kindergarten pupils, the enrollment is 1,885.

Murray said he felt the increase of 22 in the grade schools and 42 in the high school evidenced a "decided back to school movement."

Principal Stephen C. Brown said Friday morning he expected the high school enrollment to shoot over the 800 mark. There were 755 enrolled on the opening day of school—Friday, 797 were at school. In the five grade schools, 986 were enrolled Tuesday; Thursday afternoon, 1,008 were on the books.

In only one grade was there a decrease—third grade enrollment dropped from 150 to 149. Grade by grade, the increase in attendance is:
